
Glenn A. Perryman

Deputy Director, Air Warfare Division Chief of Naval Operations (N88B)

Mr. Glenn Perryman began his career in the Department of the Navy in October of 1987 and has held leadership positions in program management, systems engineering, process improvement and resources & requirements. He joined the Senior Executive Service in March of 2007 and is currently serving as the Deputy Director, Air Warfare Division for the Chief of Naval Operations. In this capacity he is responsible for the division's programming and budgeting, portfolio management, plans & studies, internal business processes and acquisition liaison.

From 1994 to 2007, Mr. Perryman held several senior positions under the Program Executive Officer (Air ASW, Assault and Special Mission Programs), including the Principal Deputy for the Maritime Surveillance Aircraft Program Office, a multi-billion dollar organization with acquisition oversight of the P-8, P-3, EP-3 and S-3. He also served as AIRSpeed Deployment Champion, Deputy Program Executive Officer for Acquisition (Marine Aviation Programs) and the Deputy Program Manager for the S-3 Critical Structures Program.

From 1989 to 1994, he was a senior engineer in the Systems Engineering Division of the Naval Air Systems Command. He was Chief Engineer on two major mission avionics developments including the P-3 Aircraft Improvement Program. While on rotational assignment to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy, he was the action officer for several aviation programs.

Prior to entering the Department of the Navy in 1987, Mr. Perryman worked in the defense industry for six years as a project engineer.

He is a member of the Acquisition Professional Community, has a Bachelor's of Science in Aerospace Engineering from the University of Virginia, is a graduate of SEMDP, and is a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt. He is the recipient of the Superior Civilian Service Award and two Meritorious Civilian Service Awards.